Bostons Got But One Hit at Chicago

AND WERE SHUT OUT 4 TO 0

Philadelphia Was Defeated by Cleveland
and New York Also Went Down
Before Detroit—Washington
Beat St. Louis.

The men from Boston went up against another stiff proposition in Chicago yesterday afternoon and were again downed by the White Sox. It being a second shutout also. The Bostonians couldn't bat, getting but one hit, while Chicago secured seven safe awards and was all to the good. The score was 4 to 0. The position of the defeated team was not changed in the least, however, being at the foot so that it can't drop through the bottom. The leaders also took a bad tumble before Cleveland, losing by the score of 7 to 1 in a ragged game on both sides. New York, the stickers to second place, also fell down, Detroit landing on top. Washington and St. Louis fought it out again, the former landing the game by the score of 1 to 0.

VORACITY OF BLACK BASS.

A Fish That Will Take Any Bait and Then Fight.

The black bass is like "a roaring lion going about seeking whom he may devour." I have seen a good-sized specimen get into a school of minnows and eat and stuff until he could not get any more into his capacious insides, then go off by himself, throw up what he had eaten, and begin over again. After which he would keep on killing the poor innocent minnows, apparently for the mere pleasure of killing. Very young bass will attack minute water life which flourishes on water plants and get away with everyone in sight, adopting the same method as their elders. To illustrate the extent of the cannibalism of the black bass, here is an experience of a superintendent of one of the fish hatcheries in Pennsylvania.

The superintendent made an actual count of 20,000 young bass about an inch long, and placed them in a fry pond by themselves. He gave them food six times a day, and according to his statement, each fish ate on an average three times its own weight of the prepared food every twenty-four hours. They were placed in a pond on July 1, and on October 1, when they were taken out, there were only 1,000, and the record showed that less than two hundred died from sickness. It is reasonable to suppose, therefore, that in addition to the food given them by the superintendent, there were about nine thousand bass devoured by their stronger and more fortunate companions.—Field and Stream.

ICE TRUST MEN LOSE.

Judge Kincaid Sustained by Common Pleas in Toledo Cases.

Toledo, O., Aug. 4.—Judge Babcock in the common pleas court, yesterday, handed down his decision in the ice cases, sustaining Judge Kincaid in every particular and exonerating him from having made any promise or suggestion of leniency, as claimed by the attorneys for the ice trust.

Were it not for the fact that the ice men's attorneys succeeded in getting into the circuit court on error, the defendants would have to go to at once to the workhouse. Technically, their cases are yet pending in the upper court, although Judge Babcock's decision removes the case entirely from the circuit court. That court, however, is adjourned until the middle of September, and sentences are suspended until the court meets and decides it has nothing further to do with the cases.

FIND QUICKSAND.

One Result of Investigation Into Building Collapse at Framingham, Mass.

South Framingham, Mass., Aug. 4.—The board of survey, appointed by the selectmen and Deputy Chief Joseph A. Moore, and consisting of Town Engineer J. J. Van Valkenburgh, Chief Engineer Eugene Waterhouse and John H. Temple, whose province it will be to determine whether the remaining portion of the collapsed Amsden building shall come down, has been making examination of the ruins, and following a meeting last night forwarded his report to District Chief Shaw.

In the course of the investigations Mr. Van Valkenburgh inserted a ten-foot iron rod down inside one of the iron pillars, which is driven into the ground its entire length, and found water not two feet below the cellar bottom. He also detected a stratum of quicksand, which may have been a contributing cause of the disaster.

CO-RESPONDENT MENTIONED

Grace Richards in the Merrow Divorce Case

HEARING IS CONCLUDED

In Petition of the Doctor That His Wife Be Adjudged in Contempt of Court

—Denials on Both Sides.

Burlington, Aug. 4.—The hearing of the Merrow divorce case in respect to an allegation and complaint that Mrs. Merrow was guilty of contempt in that she would not permit her husband, Dr. Merrow, to visit the two children in her custody was completed yesterday before Assistant Judges Allen and Lyon.

The court took the case into consideration and will later make an order. The complaint against Dr. Merrow also involves a request by him to discontinue or modify the term as to temporary alimony.

Mrs. Merrow in her testimony made statements which were practically denials of what Dr. Merrow has said. She said it was rather hard for her to live and to care for her two boys on the $12 per week granted her as temporary alimony. Her version of the story of the whip lash cut which made a deep scar on the leg of her little boy Harold which the doctor said was an accident was different than Dr. Merrow's side. She said the doctor kept two whips to punish the boys with. One day Harold took off something on the doctor's automobile, and the doctor said "d—m him, I'll fix him." He then took one of the whips and struck the boy which made the wound in the leg.

Relative to the story of the return of the pair of trout sent by Dr. Merrow to his wife, Mrs. Merrow testified that the boy Harold, who took them back, probably got the idea they were poisoned from remarks which she has made that she would not eat or take anything prepared by Dr. Merrow.

Mrs. Merrow testified to going to Dr. Merrow's office once when she found Grace Richards there. The doctor said "there is the old woman." She tried to telephone for the police so as to get witnesses and the doctor tried to prevent her.

COUNTRESS TO AID ITALIANS.

Will Found a Farm Colony for Immigrants in Colorado.

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 4.—The Countess Maria Franziska-Cibo of Rome, Italy, is here to promote a scheme to increase the immigration of Italians and turn them into farmers. The countess, who is an American, and a former resident of Racine, Wis., has married into the same old Italian family to which Pope Innocent VIII. belonged. She has a palace at Rome and a villa outside the city. "My mission is not an official one," said the countess yesterday. "I am taking an interest in the poor people of Italy and simply am doing my best to improve their condition. I was pleased to note the progress made by Italians in Colorado. It is near Greeley, I think, that the proposed colony is to be situated."

LABOR LAW DECLARED VOID.

A Decision by the New York Special Sessions.

New York, Aug. 4.—The state law of New York restricting factory labor of women to ten hours a day and sixty hours a week was declared yesterday by Judge Olmstead in a decision handed down in the court of special sessions to be an unwarranted invasion of constitutional rights. The ruling was concurred in by Justices McLean and Deuel. David I. Williams, proprietor of a book binding establishment, was arrested in January last on a charge of violating the law in question. He filed a motion for an arrest of judgment, which was granted yesterday. The defendant was discharged from custody. Judge Olmstead declared that the law was class legislation.

THE LOVE OF LAND.

Why Sixty-eight Town Bred Men Decided to "Farm It."

In a previous paper I presented the reasons that 135 college students gave for leaving the farm to engage in other occupations. These students saw little opportunity in farming, 40 per cent. of them alleging that the business offers no financial reward. Twenty per cent. said that the physical labor is too exacting and approximately an equal number that no social opportunities are offered. There replies present one view of the vexed question as to what the place of the farmer is to be in our coming civilization. There was a strain of hope running through some of the replies that in the future the opportunities on the farm would be improved; but, for the most part, the responses were hopelessly against the business of farming as a means of personal achievement.

When I asked for the opinions of those who had planned to leave the farm, I asked, also, for the reasons that moved those who have planned to remove from city conditions to farm life and those who, reared on farms, intended to return there after leaving college. The responses are most illuminating, and of course, they are hopeful for those of us who look to the open country to aid in some large way in maintaining and forwarding the best civilization.

Sixty-eight town bred or city bred students wrote me that they intend to pursue farming as a business, and to this end had entered themselves in the College of Agriculture. I should explain, however, that I used the word "farming" in its broadest sense as comprising those many occupations that are directly concerned with the product of the soil and are in intimate touch with actual rural life conditions; for some of these young men expect to be creamery men in the small rural factories rather than actual tillers of the soil. Many of the respondents give more than one reason for desiring to follow agricultural work.

The point of view of all these various personal motives is most significant, and it is in bold contrast to the general run of the responses of those who plan to leave the farm. The present replies are marked by the prominence given to ideals and by the subordination of mere personal enjoyment and desire for money. Forty per cent. of those who are leaving the farm declare that they do so because there is not money enough in it; very few of the 361 students who plan to be farmers mention the expectation of earning money as the leading motive and a number of them mention the relatively small earning power, and then declare that they will follow the business in spite of that handicap. Nearly every one of them gives higher ideals of living as the propelling motive, and these ideals crystallize about two focal—the love of nature and the desire of a free, independent life. Moreover, these are responses of strong conviction. They evidence pride of calling, and not one of them is apologetic. They are hopeful; they all have a forward look. They are surprisingly unselfish. Not one of them asks for power. They show that even in this epoch of hurried city building, the love of the open country and of plain, quiet living still remains as a real and vital force.

I was impressed in the replies of those who are to leave the farm, with the emphasis placed on lack of money, hard work, and small social opportunity; I am impressed in these replies with the recurrence of such ideals as love for the work that one is doing, education, study, personal influence, happiness, service, home. With these young men, their business is to be an affair of the heart. We hear much about the greed for money and power and the great dangers that threaten our runaway society, but I wonder whether in the end the country man will not still have hold of at least one of the reins.—Prof. L. H. Bailey in Century Magazine.

LOST GIRL IS FOUND

Mable Cady of Granville In Bad Shape

SHE WENT OUT BERRYING

Showed Up at a Camp on the Mountains With Her Clothes Nearly Torn From Her Body.

Lincoln, Aug. 4.—Miss Mabel Cady of Granville, the 14 years old girl who was lost for 24 hours in the mountain forest, has practically recovered from the severe mental strain and physical exhaustion incident to the unfortunate occurrence.

Wednesday afternoon the girl came by accident, apparently, to the cabin of F. A. Draper and wife, which is well up the mountain side in a dense forest where Mrs. Draper is camping for relief from tuberculosis.

The girl, who is little more than a child, was in a pitiable condition. Her shoes had been practically worn from her feet and the part of them remaining she carried in her hand. Her hair was full of burrs and sticks and her dress was in tatters; in fact the child was almost naked. Her actions, too, were peculiar and Mrs. Draper thinking her insane, notified First Selectman L. E. Jackson, who went to the camp as soon as possible. On his arrival the girl had become rational and was taken to his home for the night. In the meantime a message had come from Granville stating that a girl was lost. Identification by phone followed and yesterday she returned home.

The girl, it seems, went out berrying Tuesday with a companion whom she soon sent back to the house. As she did not return an alarm was given and soon more than 300 people were hunting for her. Much excitement prevailed and there was talk of foul play. A brother of the girl who did not join the searching party but went to bed, was aroused by a crowd having a rope with which they threatened to hang him unless he told what he knew. He denied any knowledge of the affair, but a warrant was issued and he was arrested. "Three fishermen, whose conduct seemed suspicious, were also promptly arrested, one other person was held making in all five arrests, not to mention search warrants authorizing officers to enter and search buildings supposed to contain either the body of the girl or other evidence of crime.

The searches in the meantime had tracked the girl a mile or so up the mountain, where the trail was lost. The girl seems to have but a faint recollection of how she passed the night. She says she did not, she thinks, lie down but slept a little on her feet. The Draper camp which she happened to find, is about 5 miles from her home, a dense mountain forest intervening. Selectman Jackson, who is familiar with the locality says: "The croc course taken by the girl is almost impossible for a strong man. It has been cut over, old tree tops remain through which has grown a dense undergrowth, making a tangle through which it is next to impossible to travel. Had the girl taken a southern course she would have met with almost continuous mountains, far from inhabitants and would doubtless have perished."

WOOD HAS ONE SALARY.

It is Officially Denied That He Draws More Than Two.

Washington, Aug. 4.—Denial is made from the State Department of the published story charging General Leonard Wood with drawing two salaries in the Philippines. According to the story, General Wood collects his pay as an officer of the army and draws $4,000 a year as civil governor of the islands. Secretary Loeb said: "The story is ridiculous on its face. General Wood has nothing whatever to do with the civil administration of the islands."

SAN FRANCISCO PREY OF LUMBER DEALERS

Prices Raised, and U. S. District Attorney Has Begun Investigation of "Combination."

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 4.—United States Dist. Atty. Devlin has begun an investigation of the alleged combination of lumber dealers. The grand jury recently began an inquiry into the methods by which lumber prices were raised. Considerable evidence had been gathered, when it was learned that such affairs were beyond the authority of the grand jury. The evidence was then turned over to the United States district attorney. The lumber dealers are accused of discriminating against certain contractors. Since the fire the prices of lumber have advanced on an average $2 a thousand feet, and it is rumored that another increase of $1 to $2 has been contemplated.

VERMONT DISTRICTS LEAD.

A Total of Almost 60,000 Entries for the Last Fiscal Year.

Burlington, Aug. 4.—Collector C. H. Darling has just received the report of the auditor and it shows that the work of the men in the customs district of Vermont for the fiscal year which closed June 30 has been exceptionally fine. In fact, the district leads all other districts in the country in the number of entries and fewer mistakes have been made.

The auditor's report covers 156 districts and includes all except the large seaboard districts. The number of entries which passed through the hands of Collector Darling was 53,999. In all this great number of entries, which means an immense amount of clerical work, there were but four errors.

The district of Memphremagog is second, having 28,373 entries. The fact that the two Vermont districts lead all others speaks well for the efficiency of the work being done.
